Sunburst Software Solutions, Inc. Announces Development of New Application to Share Data with QuickBooks® Products; Built Using Microsoft® Technology

Integration with QuickBooks® Helps Small Businesses Save Time and Money

West Charleston, VT; January 25, 2005 - Sunburst Software Solutions, Inc. today announced that the final development process of their newest product Wage Manager Solution is in the final stages of beta testing, with a proposed release date of February 16, 2005. Wage Manager Solution will share data with Intuit's QuickBooks® software products - including QuickBooks® Pro and Premier editions, as well as QuickBooks® Enterprise Solutions; and is built using Microsoft® technology.

"Wage Manager Solution has been designed to assist business owners and/or payroll administrators eliminate the time-consuming task of editing individual employee records and updating pay rates employee by employee," says Nancy Smyth, Certified QuickBooks® ProAdvisor and President of Sunburst Software Solutions, Inc. "Wage Manager will access every QuickBooks® employee record, the payroll items assigned to them, the rate of pay and pull it into a convenient grid-like screen that looks similar to a spreadsheet. Once the information is pulled into the grid, the business owner or payroll administrator can then work with multiple payroll items and rates for multiple employees all at the same time. Existing payroll wage items and pay rates may be modified if there is an across the board pay increase, new payroll items may be created and assigned to multiple employees, or obsolete payroll items may be removed. Once the user is satisfied with the changes, the information may then be written back to the QuickBooks® file and the user can watch the process in a documented log file as it happens, thus being able to quickly correct any problems that the program encounters - such as the inability to write to a specific employees record because that record is open in QuickBooks®.
